Use of Certification

- Certified businesses have the right to display materials indicating that they are certified. The Certificate provides proof of current certification and is intended to be displayed. Some material may be supplied for this purpose with the Green Table Australia certificate. This marketing material remains the property of the issuing authority and should be used in accordance with the following

- if certification expires or is withdrawn, all marketing material must be returned to the issuing authority.

The Applicant must immediately notify RCA of any change in information provided in the application or otherwise and the applicant accepts and acknowledges that certification may be varied or withdrawn as a result of such change at the absolute discretion of the Association.

Where businesses are found to be in breach of any of the certification requirements, RCA reserves the right to provide written notice to the business specifying the breach and the action that needs to be taken to rectify it. Businesses will be required to produce evidence that the breach has been rectified to the satisfaction of the Association, within seven (7) days of receipt of the breach notification from RCA. If the breach is not rectified, RCA reserves the right to cancel the certification status.

- An appeal must be lodged in writing with RCA no later than fourteen (14) days after the notice of the Association’s decision has been given.
